

Nancy Ali

As vice president, resource development Nancy is responsible for fund development and board of trustees for the national organization's 13-state Midwest region.

Nancy has spent 15 years in the not-for-profit industry from serving as executive director of the Cabrini-Green Tutoring Program to management positions with several voluntary health organizations. Under Nancy's leadership, these organizations saw double and triple digit growth in revenue.

During her 12 year tenure in the corporate sector, Nancy worked primarily in print media, holding manager level positions at The Los Angeles Times and Newsday. Nancy currently serves on the board of Kartemquin Films is also a member of Drishtipat, a human rights organization.

Nancy, a honor college graduate received a journalism degree from Ball State University and was a Graduate Fellow in the journalism department at Ohio State University.