

Soudary Kittivong-Greenbaum, CFRE

With more than 10 years in the nonprofit field, Soudary Kittivong-Greenbaum is an experienced resource development professional with proven abilities in developing and implementing high-level strategies for social justice and human rights organizations. At Metropolitan Group, she provides strategic counsel to diverse clients on a variety of resource development projects, including fundraising plans, staff and board capacity building, and campaign preparation, launch and management. Her current and recent clients include National Hispana Leadership Institute, the American Library Association, Feeding America, Ford Foundation, Faith in Place, School-Community Health Alliance of Michigan, Farmworker Justice and Women Employed.

Before joining MG in 2006, Soudary was a senior manager for Interfaith Refugee and Immigration Ministries in Chicago. As development director, she oversaw all development and communication initiatives for the refugee resettlement agency with a $2.1 million annual budget. Soudary has also worked at the ACLU Foundation of Oregon, International Rivers Network in Berkeley, and the Gay & Lesbian Alliance Against Defamation in Los Angeles.

Soudary earned her CFRE in May 2009. She holds a master's degree in public service management from DePaul University, Chicago, and a bachelor's degree in Asian American studies and political science from the University of California at Santa Barbara. She is a current board member of the Asian Health Coalition of Illinois, and a former board member of the Southeast Asia Resource Action Center.
