

Ina N. Owens

Ina N. Owens is the Director of the Advocate Bethany Hospital Community Health Fund for Advocate Health Care. Established by Advocate in 2006, this 14 year term fund awards approximately $1 million annually to non-profit organizations the promote health and wellness on the west side of Chicago.

Prior to joining Advocate, Ina worked as an administrator for the Chicago Public Schools where she served as the Program Director for a federally funded $2.2 million dollar alcohol abuse reduction grant. Ina also served as the Transition Services Manager, where she was responsible for the oversight of the educational, vocational, and employment post-secondary preparation for over 20,000 special education high-school students throughout the system.

Ina received a bachelor of arts in English from Spelman College and a master of social work from Smith College. Ina is also a licensed clinical social worker with a psychotherapy practice in Oak Park.