

John R. Siragusa III

John R. Siragusa III (Jack) joined the board of the Siragusa Foundation in the fall of 2006. He graduated from the University of Miami in 2006 with a B.S. in Communications with a double major in Broadcast Journalism and Political Science. While there, Jack was actively involved in campus life, including anchoring a weekly on campus news program broadcasted on UMTV. Following graduation in the fall of 2007, he moved to Chicago and began working as an associate with Mid-America Real Estate Corporation, a real estate brokerage firm that solely focuses on retail commercial real estate. In his time at Mid-America, he has helped negotiate transactions with Nordstrom Rack, Darden Restaurants and ATI Physical Therapy, among others.

As the eldest member of the fourth generation of the Siragusa Foundation, Jack is working to educate younger family members on the importance of staying local to Chicago and upholding the Foundation's mission statement. He has also attended events hosted by the Association of Small Foundations and the Donors Forum's Family Foundations Committee regarding the interests and challenges of the next generation in family foundations.
