

Sid Bala

A native resident of the Chicago area, Sid Bala attended the University of Chicago for his undergraduate degree and went on to the State University of New York, Stony Brook for a graduate degree. Upon returning to Chicago for a brief career in finance and banking, he founded alligatortek. He has grown the technology consulting firm over the last 20 years ago to provide clients with custom software

Sid's personal mantra of "To whom much is given, much is expected" also reflects in the company's mission to build software that provides a competitive edge in the marketplace. Throughout the years, Mr. Bala has remained an active member of the community. He has served on various charitable foundation boards and business councils. Mr. Bala currently holds leadership roles at the Economic Club of Chicago and Entrepreneurs' Organization.
