

JACQUELYN M. BONAVIA, CFRE,

Jacquelyn M. Bonavia, CFRE, is Director of Advancement for the Jane Addams College of Social Work at the University of Illinois at Chicago. During her career, she has served as both an executive director and a director of development for various nonprofit organizations.

Jackie began her career as the executive director of a performing and visual arts center in North Carolina. Upon relocating to Illinois, she became the first executive director of the Illinois Philharmonic Orchestra, a professional symphony in suburban Chicago, guiding its growth over a 16-year tenure. As a development director, Jackie has worked with several Chicago cultural and arts education organizations, most recently including the Pritzker Military Museum and Library and Music of the Baroque. During her career, Jackie says, “I have been committed to creating value for the communities that are home to these organizations and meaningful relationships between donors and the organizations they choose to support.”

Jackie is a past president of AFP Chicago, having served 11 years on its board of directors. She is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin-Madison, earning a B.A. in Journalism from the College of Letters and Sciences and an M.A. in Arts Administration from the School of Business.